Frosh Register Tomorrow For Election Thursday

Registration for the special freshmen election called for Thursday afternoon will be from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. tomorrow in the hall outside the Student Union business office, Don Kern, Livingston, member of a central board-appointed election committee, said last night.

The election Thursday will be to select a freshman central board delegate. Darrel Wardien, Seattle, elected last quarter, has since left school.

Activity cards of all freshmen will be checked and stamped by Bear Paws during registration, Kern said. The stamped cards will admit freshmen to the following day's election called for 4 p.m. in the Student Union theater.

The election is open to all freshmen.

Class Pres. Jack O'Loughlin, Missoula, will preside at the nominations and election. Nominations will be from the floor, and balloting will be secret. For this special election, said Kern, a plurality of votes will insure election of a delegate.

Working with Kern on the election committee are Bob Tabaracci, Black Eagle; and Bill Hinrichs, Havre.

Community Concertgoers Applaud Rose Bampton, Metropolitan Opear Star

BY RICHARD WRIGHT

Rose Bampton, Metropolitan Opera star, received a warm tribute from MSU students and Missoula townspeople in her first concert last night. Brooks Smith, accompanist, shared credits with Miss Bampton with a superior interpretation of songs.

The audience called back Miss Bampton several times during the evening to sing such encores as "None But the Lonely Heart," Tchaikowsky; "Let My Song Fill Your Heart," Ernest Charles; "One Fine Day," from "Madame Butterfly," Puccini; and "Spanish Love Song," Obradors.

Mr. Smith followed Debussy's impressionistic "Gardens in the Rain" with two encore numbers, "Spanish Folk Song," George Copeland, and "Prelude in G," Rachmaninoff.

The dramatic soprano thrilled the audience with Moussorgsky's "The Evening Prayer." Miss Bampton realistically portrayed the little child saying his prayers at his nurse's knee, recalling that among his remembrances of his family he had forgotten himself.

The versatile tonal qualities which Miss Bampton displayed augmented her position in the operatic world.

CONCERT TICKETS STILL ON SALE

Tickets for tonight's performance of Rose Bampton Metropolitan opera soprano, will be sold all afternoon until 4 o'clock and also at the door of the auditorium, according to Mrs. Anne Anderson, Student Union cashier.

Tickets for tonight's concert are 75 cents, with season tickets selling for $2.25.

File 13 for Anonymous Letters

At least once each quarter, we find it necessary to reiterate our stand on letters to the editor.

Saturday, we received a communication from someone signing his name "Dick Smith." On the envelope the name was "Dick Smut," as near as we can decipher the writing. Return address on the envelope was "Mont. University."

As it is the Kaimin's policy to check on all writers of letters to the editor, we were not at all surprised to find no record of either Dick Smith or Dick Smut (no Richard's either).

Apparently, as is often the case, someone is attempting to stir up trouble without being willing to identify himself.

While we welcome letters to the editor, and are glad to print them and give the requested information whenever possible, we can not print anonymous or phony letters. If a person is unwilling to sign his real name to a communication, it is unworthy of our consideration and publication.

Letters to the editor must be signed by the student's real name, and they must contain the Missoula address of the sender. If we find that the University has no record of such a person, the letter goes into the round file and is nothing but a waste of time and a 3 cent stamp.

If a letter is worth writing, it's worth signing.

Sanderson Airs News Values At Press Club

"The American public is politically illiterate," declared Arthur "Deke" Sanderson, assistant instructor of English, in his talk before members of Press club Thursday night.

The average newspaper reader has the mentality of a twelve-year-old, and wants dramatic effects, he said.

"The most sought-after paper is not one with news by famous analysts, but rather the paper which carries Steve Canyon," asserted Mr. Sanderson.

A three-ring circus on the front page of our dailies is what the readers demand. For, this reason poor stories are sometimes given an exaggerated importance, he said.

"Until readers demand adult reading, they will get dramatized accounts of their news," said Mr. Sanderson.

Dean James L. C. Ford spoke briefly of his trip. He attended the 26th convention of the American Association of Schools and Departments of Journalism, and the 30th convention of the American Association of Teachers of Journalism at Lexington, Ky., Jan. 9, 10, and 11. At Chicago, Jan. 13, 14, and 15 he attended the annual conference of the Newspaper Advertising Executives association.

Sentinel pictures were taken in the press room after the meeting.

STAFF WILL MEET

The Mountaineer editorial staff will meet at 5 o'clock this afternoon in Library 103 to have Sentinel pictures taken, Editor Marjorie Karlin, Missoula, has announced.

Field Is Growing, Ex-Forester Says

"Opportunities in the field of forestry are better now than they were several years ago," Major Evan W. Kelley, retired regional forester, told University forestry students at a meeting in the Journalism building Friday afternoon.

"Pioneer foresters devoted their time to the development of trails and weed lands. But now the restoration and maintenance of the forest is stressed, along with the early developments, thereby offering a greater and more diversified field of study," declared Major Kelley.

"The foresters of today have a real responsibility of improving the forests that have been lost and of preserving those that we have," he stated.

Major Kelley, a veteran of government service, is the first in a series of speakers to appear before the forestry student body.

Grizzlies Score Easy Victories Over Weak Farragut Tech Squad

Snapping their 10-game losing streak, Montana's Grizzlies scored two easy victories over Farragut Tech Friday and Saturday nights in the University gym.

In Friday night's game, won by the Grizzlies, 71 to 35, the Grizzlies started slow and held a one point margin after five minutes of play. But with Lou Rocheleau and Chuck Davis leading the way, they soon pulled away from the inexperienced Farragut squad. Ralph Spring, diminutive Tech guard, looped four successive long shots to bring Farragut within 12 points at the end of the first canto.

Grizzlies Stiffen

The Silvertip defense could not be penetrated in the second half and the Idaho squad failed to score for the first 10 minutes of play, while the fast-breaking Montana quint consistently rolled in points.

Rocheleau led Montana scoring 20 points, followed closely by Davis with 18. Ray Bauer, who came to the Grizzlies this quarter, was outstanding on defense and looped 13 markers. Spring was Farragut's only scoring threat with 15.

Saturday night's contest saw an aggressive alternate five spark Montana to a 70 to 37 triumph. Led by high-scoring Graham, with 19 points, the second group displayed more hustle and fight and connected more consistently than the regulars.

Farragut Clicks

Farragut started off fast with three points, before Moses scored several times to send Montana into the lead, which they kept throughout the game. The half-time score gave Montana a 33 to 21 advantage.

In the first few minutes of the second half, the Grizzlies starters missed consistently, while Farragut dumped three. Coach Jiggs Dahlberg then sent in his second line-up of J. Holding, Nash, Graham, Bauer, and Cope, which scored 23 points in less than 10 minutes.

Oswald Plans Swim Meets

"Montana's swimming team is developing nicely and should be in shape for some meets later in the month and early in February. The only trouble we're having at the moment," Swimming Coach Bob Oswald said yesterday, "is in booking meets, but we should have some lined up by the end of this week."

A well balanced, 15-man squad of tankmen promises MSU one of its best swimming teams in recent years. With much out-of-state talent, the squad boasts two brother combinations.

Distance Men Good

Jim and Dick Bottomly, Helena, are both good 220 and 440 distance men and Dick may be called upon for diving with the expectancy of point-winning results.

Bob and Don Sawhill, Missoula, comprise the second brother combination on this year's swimming team. Bob takes care of the diving and is a 100 and 200 breast stroker. Don is one of the team's best 440 men.

Captain of the team is Dale Gillespie, Missoula, who, as one of the best back strokers on the squads, performs in the 100 and 160 yard events. Rowland Throssell, North Arlington, N. J., is the valuable supporting element in the back stroke. Throssell also will see service as a free-styler.

More Stars Listed

Bill McMannis, Dillon, who swam for Wisconsin during the war, is one of the team's best performers. McMannis specializes in the 100 and 220 free-style and can dive.

Chuck Simpson, Nutley, N. J., will be McMannis' swimming mate in the 100 and 220 free style events.

A Rebel element comes to the tank team in the person of Jack Davis from Knoxville, Tenn. Davis is a 100 and 220 free-styler.

Norman Warsinske, Billings, is just shaking off a cold and is fast developing into one of the team's best 100 and 220 backstroke artist.

John Halberg, Two Rivers, Wis., is expected to take care of the distance assignments in the 440 and 220 and Tom Kelly, Columbus, will swim the back stroke with Paul Thornfeldt, Helena.

Air Force Association Organizes

A Missoula chapter of the Air Force association, an organization open to all former AAF men and women, was formed Wednesday night according to Roy June, Missoula, newly-elected vice commander.

James A. MacKellar, Missoula, was chosen commander of the AFA. Other officers, besides June, are: secretary, John McDougall, Phillipsburg; treasurer, Lloyd Bryant, Missoula; squadron council, Len Welke and Jack Dunning, both of Rochester, N. Y.; and Dale Dahlgren, Missoula; constitution committee, Sam Harris, Deer Lodge, George Wonsley and Larry Floreck, Missoula.

The aims of the organization are "to preserve and foster the spirit of fellowship among former and present members of the AAF," and to assist aviation in any way possible.

There are now two AAF organizations on the campus, the Air Force association, and the Air Reserve association, said June, and there is some confusion as to their differences.

"The AFA is open to all former and present members of the Air Force, commissioned, non-commissioned, and WAC," he said. "The ARA is composed of former Air Force officers, many of whom have been flying as reservists at the Great Falls Army Air base lately."

The $3 membership fee charged by the AFA entitles members to a year's subscription to "Air Force" magazine. The group will meet on the first Thursday of each month, unless otherwise notified, and Air Force movies will be shown at these meetings if the group desires to see them.

Marxism Is Discussed By Social Group

Marxism, and Friedrich Engels' contribution to it, was discussed Wednesday in the opening lecture of a nine-lecture series scheduled for the winter quarter on modern social theory.

Forty-five University students, instructors, and townspeople were on hand for the meeting in the journalism building.

Following an opening report on "Friedrich Engels' Contribution to Marxism," by John Wolfard, assistant professor of economics, the audience discussed Marxism and opposing theories.

Other lecture discussions in the series were listed as:

Jan. 22, Edmund Freeman, professor of English, "The Roots and Present Nature of English Socialism;" Jan. 29, Paul Meadows, associate professor of sociology, "Arnold Toynbee's Study of History;" Feb. 5, Mr. Wolfard, "Thorstein Veblen;" Feb. 12, John Moore, assistant professor of English, "Jacques Maritain's The Rights of Man and Natural Law;" Feb. 19, Guy Barnes, Missoula, "Reinhold Niebuhr's The Children of Light and The Children of Darkness;" Feb. 26, Mr. Meadows, "Nicholas Berdyaev and Pitirim Sorokin;" March 5, Miss Lucile Speer, documents and serials librarian, "John Somerville's Soviet Philosophy;" and March 12, E. Line Writes On Montana Economics

Of the 99,000 people who left Montana for war employment elsewhere, 98 per cent have returned to the state, according to an article by Prof. Robert C. Line of the business administration school.

The article, "Western Montana," appears in the current copy of "Pacific Northwest Industry." Dividing the topic into four parts, Professor Line discusses: "Problems Facing the Region," "Outlook for Major Industries," "Employment Outlook," and "New Enterprises."

The article points out that though mining suffered in Butte, other mines, phosphate in particular, have increased their business. The employment outlook for Western Montana indicates that 1947 will have no general labor shortage. In 1946, Line wrote, this section of the state was short of farm laborers, miners, and carpenters in the skilled occupations. In unskilled occupations the usual run of workers were in demand.

In the future Montana might realize a growth of business activities in an enlarged agricultural production, tourist trade, and new industries according to Line's article.
